Red River Gorge, Stanton, KY

Red River Gorge Income Producing Cabin Portfolio + Development Land + Investment Opportunity in One of Kentucky's Top Tourism Destinations This rare investment offering includes six established income-producing short-term rental cabins located in the heart of the Red River Gorge, one of the most visited outdoor recreation destinations in the eastern United States. The property combines existing cash-flowing rentals, expansion land, and unique natural features, creating an exceptional opportunity for investors looking to grow within the high-demand vacation rental market. The offering includes six operational cabins currently utilized as short-term rentals, providing immediate income in a market known for strong tourism driven by world-class rock climbing, hiking, and outdoor recreation. Opportunities combining existing rental income, expansion potential, and natural landmark features are extremely rare in the Red River Gorge market. Additional financial details and property information are available upon request. In addition to the operating cabins, the property includes two vacant buildable lots with utilities available, offering the potential to construct three to four additional cabins to increase revenue and scale the rental portfolio. A truly unique aspect of this offering is the view of the Nada Twin East Arches -Upper and Lower (you would not own the arches themselves). These remarkable natural rock formations add a rare and valuable view from the property, enhancing guest experience and creating a distinctive destination for visitors seeking the natural beauty of the Gorge. The cabins sit beneath dramatic rock faces, creating a private and scenic setting while still offering city water and city sewer service, a valuable infrastructure advantage for development in the Red River Gorge area. Guests and visitors enjoy a short walking distance to the arches, along with convenient access to hiking trails, climbing areas, and the many outdoor attractions. Opportunities combining existing rental income, expansion potential, and natural landmark features are extremely rare in the Red River Gorge market.
